

The President's Patter ...

October is Economic and Community Development month in the Rotary calendar. Quite appropriate since we had the launch of the sponsorship campaign for the 2017 Rotary Art Show on Tuesday night. The art show is a major opportunity for our club to make a difference to the major beneficiary AEIOU – a charity that seek to offer early intervention for those children who suffer from autism so that they can participate in their schooling and social activities

I would ask each member to consider opportunities for sponsors – the Art Show has a good flow of people walk through its city location. We should also do our bit to support those businesses that support the Art Show.

This week Susan Rix joined the board at AEIOU so this will offer a closer connection to our club.

And this weekend we have the opportunity to help the youth by cooking sausages and onion – the Rotaract national conference hosted here in Brisbane where we will cook the sausages for lunch.

And helping AEIOU with one of their major fundraisers, their Take a Hike event. Again we will be cooking sausages and onions but over an extended time. Please make a special effort to be part of one of these two events. Enjoy some fellowship, turn a few sausages and a smile.

All proceeds will go to the Indigenous Literacy Foundation (ILF) to fund the production and initial print of Now resting peacefully on K'gari. ILF is a national book charity that draws on the skills and expertise of the book industry to address children's literacy levels in remote Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Communities.

Now resting peacefully on K'gari tells the story of the infamous TSS Maheno and how it ended up shipwrecked on the shores of K'gari (now commonly referred to as Fraser Island). The book will be distributed in both English and the Butchulla language to the Maheno Group and the Butchulla people - the traditional owners of K'gari (Fraser Island).
