

The President's Patter ...

There is something about a sausage and onion barbeque that is quite sessional Australian. This type of barbeque appeals to all ages.

Sunday at the AEIOU Take A Hike activity was a good example where those who were doing a 5 kilometre walk were lining up for a sausage and onion alongside those who were part way through the running a 42 kilometre marathon distance.

I suspect having a sausage on bread is not quite the regular menu selection for Olympic athletes.

Sunday at AEIOU was a great opportunity for our club to work with the Ashgrove / The Gap Rotary Club who supplied the BBQ trailer. We received a number of compliments for the support of AEIOU and our new aprons emblazoned with the Rotary logo certainly reminded one and all of the organisation that we represented.

Talking with some of the participants there was a strong connection of support for AEIOU – people were there to show support for that organisation and to challenge themselves to achieve a distance. A good day to support, and thanks to those who attended and manned the BBQ.

At the same time, the Rotaract national conference BBQ was happening a short distance away in Southbank. Rosemary and Wendy lent a hand to the Rotaract team – this event also demonstrated the power of sausages and onion.

In the end while we did not need a lot of manpower at either event, both offered the positive feedback of helping two organisations that we can be proud to be associated with – Rotaract and AEIOU. Rotary serving humanity (with sauce).
